Harry James Is Pops Choice

Committee Fails To Get Brown, Kenton, Shearing

By Wilbur Flachman

If at first you don't succeed, try, try again. That's the attitude taken by Don Hamilton, pops concert chairman, as it looks now that Harry James will appear here April 15 for the annual pops concert.

James was the fourth band contacted by Hamilton. Stan Kenton, first choice by the Student Body, showed no interest at all. No. 2 selection, Les Brown reportedly is having transportation difficulties, so he isn't available at present. Third choice was George Shearing, but he had April 15 filled so Hamilton phoned James' agent in Chicago.

meeting, according to Charles Maahs, Student Body vice-president.

A suggestion box has been placed in the hallway in Luther Hall for suggestions for a student body project. Students are urged by the senate members to submit suggestions in order that a variety of ideas will be available at selection time.

Also Monday night, senior senator Phil Moeller presented a report on the possibility of renewing the lecture series.

"It was the feeling of senate members that it would be impossible to sponsor a series this year, but a complete program is being worked out for next year," stated Maahs.

Plans for the social hour following the Luther game have been cancelled according to John Adix, Student Body President.

Senate members voted to provide entertainment and refreshments for Luther students following the Norse-Knight basketball clash Tuesday night. The battle will be Luther's official "away" game and three hundred students are expected for the contest.

207 Applications Pass 1957 Total

Applications for admission to Wartburg next year reached 207 last Friday. At the same time last year 157 applications had been received.

Public Relations Director Norm Fintel pointed out that many of the applicants have not been formally admitted because they lack a complete grade transcript or the necessary deposit but that this is a normal discrepancy.

Sr. Gets Award

Bruce Friedrich, senior from Clinton, Okla., has been awarded an assistantship in chemistry at the State University of Iowa. Friedrich, a chemistry and math major, will teach laboratory sections next year while working towards a master's degree in analytical chemistry.

Convos Listed

Convocation on Tuesday will feature Judge Henry Graven of Greene, who will be on Wartburg campus during the week for a Lutheran Brotherhood meeting. On Thursday faculty and student body meetings are scheduled.

Publications Seek Editors

"The time has come," the walrus said, "to speak of many things."

The time, too, has come to select editors of student publications for next year. This will be done at the regular meeting of the Publications Committee Tuesday.

Application blanks may be obtained from Miss Margaret Wolff, Journalism Department. Applications for the position of Trumpet editor, Fortress editor and Castle editor must be turned in to Miss Wolff or the Rev. Walter Tillmanns, publications chairman, by 4:30 Tuesday afternoon.

Requirements for the positions are that they must be a junior or senior at time of taking office, have experience on the publication and must have shown qualities of leadership. Other requirements include a 2.0 average or better, second semester of reporting (for Trumpet) or an advanced writing course for the Castle.

Moeller

The agent sent a contract and Hamilton is expecting to receive it soon. James will play in Des Moines April 12 and in Sioux City April 13. He then will come to Waverly April 15 as the plans indicate now, before opening in Chicago April 16.

In other important action in the student senate, senior Bill Jurgens was appointed to head this year's Student Body project. Action took place at Monday night's senate meeting.

The Student Body project will probably be chosen in next Thursday's Student Body

Registrar Lists 55 For Honor Roll

Names of 55 students are on the first semester honor roll released by the registrar's office. Five students attaining a four-point average are Olinda Deines and Valeria Gerlt, seniors; Rosalia Kruger, junior; David Grube, freshman; Roy Burgess, special student.

Others on the honor roll include nine seniors: Larry Achorn, Conrad Bracklein, Bruce Friedrich, Harvey Groskreutz, Iris Heaney, Erwin Jansen, Roger Klingman, Nancy Mista and Ruth Weidler.

Barbara Aslakson, Roger Buhr, Dennis Dickman, Herman Hein, LaRae Kalisiak, John Meyer, Joan Pape, James Schwarz, Donald Steege, Gilbert Wessel and Dennis Wessels are the 12 other juniors who attained a 3.5 or better average.

The seven sophomores listed are Virginia Albers, Darlene Arns, Patricia Donahoo, James Eissinger, Ronald Freimark, Roger Lageschulte and Mary Zellmer.

Freshmen were best represented with 23, the remainder following: Paul Ahrens, Darrol Bauer, Bruce Bergquist, Waldo Bielenberg, Robert Bipes, Catherine Carr, Robert Clapp, Mark Engelbrecht, Beverly Groth, Merle Hanssen, Mary Heuer, Grace Jahn, Kay Johannsen, Elizabeth Koopman, Richard Kruger, Jan Lamine, Valeria Mager, Frederick Mai, Barbara Meyer, Linda Muiridge, Deloris Rieck and Mary Thompson.

Two special students, Roy Burgess and Emma Kruger, also made the honor roll.

Sixteen of these students were carrying loads of eighteen hours or more.

Brotherhood Institute Here Tuesday; Judge Graven Is Featured Speaker

By Irm Feldmann

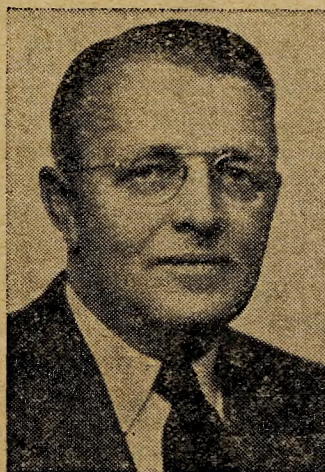

Brotherhood members representing local organizations from the state of Iowa will be on the Wartburg campus Tuesday for the 11th annual Brotherhood Institute. It will be held in Knights Gym, registration beginning at 8:30 a.m. and continuing throughout the morning.

United States District Judge Henry N. Graven will be the featured speaker at the opening convocation. Official delegate to the Hanover Lutheran World Federation convention several years ago, he is now chairman of the American Lutheran Church Board of Pensions.

Delegates will be welcomed at the beginning of the first session by Dr. C. H. Becker, president of Wartburg; Dr. William Schmidt, pastor of St. Paul's; and G. R. Bjorgan, president of St. Paul's Brotherhood, Iowa District Brotherhood president, H. C. Engelbrecht, Wartburg business manager, will give the address.

During the noon hour, simultaneous Institute dinners will be held at St. Paul's Parish House, Carver's Restaurant and the Student Memorial Union.

This will be followed by a band concert in Knights Gym

ELC's Christensen

Judge Graven

which will precede the second session. Featured speaker at this session is Arthur Christensen, Evangelical Lutheran Church Parish Conservation Service.

Preceding the third session, the Area No. 12 Choral Group, directed by the Rev. C. A. Brauer, will present their concert. Sectional meetings constitute the third session. At the same time, a tea for the ladies will be given in Centennial Hall. Closing devotions will be led by Dr. H. W. Siefkes, president of the Iowa District of the ALC.

Following the program, the men may watch a wrestling demonstration in Knights Gym and attend the open house at the Lutheran Mutual Life Insurance Building, where they will be guests of the company for the evening meal.

Wartburg-Luther basketball game will climax the day's events at 7:30 p.m. in Knights Gymnasium.

Becker Talks To SUI Grads

President C. H. Becker delivered the address at the mid-year commencement at the State University of Iowa, Iowa City, this morning. His speech was entitled "The Responsibility of the Educated Man in the World of Tomorrow."

The fears, distrust and despair of today's American civilization and their solutions were presented in his talk. The launching of Sputnik I, he maintained, has shown that the shaken United States must resume its leadership in building a better tomorrow.

In order to achieve this end, Becker explained, that man must have correct vision, a vision that "sees with the eyes of God." He also pointed out that success and failure have always alternated in the history of mankind.

Becker concluded, "To build for tomorrow we must have faith in ourselves, in the principles for which America stands, in the effectiveness of education in helping build a better world and a greater faith in a great God."

From The Editor — Answers

Last week's Trumpet readership poll brought a number of comments and questions concerning operation and policies of this paper which are worthy of further consideration. So, in the words of a TV comic, "And away we go."

"Why do you have so many ads?"
Good question. The reason there are so many ads is that in order to put out the paper, they're an absolute essential. The Trumpet has an operating budget of $6,000 per year. It gets $3 per year, per student or about $2,500. The rest must come from other sources, and this means advertising. It gets no school subsidy.

"Why don't you print more letters to the editor?"
The readers don't write them. Next question.

"Where do you get your information for 'Wartburg's Week'?" It seems as if something is always wrong.

Information for "Wartburg's Week" is obtained from the student activities calendar in the public relations office. This is given to the office by the club officers. But if a club decides to change the time of the meeting without informing either the PR office or the Trumpet, it's little wonder that errors occur.

"It's lousy."
Well, you understand that that's a matter of opinion.

"Why only four pages most of the time?" It seems that a campus this size should have a bigger paper.

To this "Amen." However, since the Trumpet is entirely self-supporting and can't spend more than it takes in, only a certain amount of pages can be published. And, we agree — there should be a bigger paper.

"There seems to be so much stuff in there that we know already."

This could be. But, remember too, though, that only about half of the Trumpet's circulation is on-campus. Each week more than two thousand Trumpets roll off the presses. Less than half of these are distributed on campus. The remainder go off-campus.

"Student opinion doesn't seem to matter to the Trumpet."

Well, have you bothered to express any? Letters to the editor are always welcome.

"Why do you try to sound like professional reporters?"

For the same reason people in music try to sound like professional musicians.

"Why don't you run some exposes and do some muck-raking?"

Fine. For instance . . .

"If newspapers were movies, the Trumpet would get an Oscar."

Bless you.

But, regardless of the type of comments or questions, this paper does appreciate them. The poll is being seriously studied in an effort to improve the paper.

Student opinion and ideas are important, and the Trumpet wants to hear them. It's the student's paper and it tries to reflect the life of the campus.

'We're Good,' So Say The Paper's Readers

By Grace Jahn and Marilyn Lindstrom

The Trumpet is good.

That's not the paper's opinion, but the students', according to last week's readership poll. From the 270 who participated, the results ran this way (percentage-wise):

	Excellent	Good	Fair	Poor	Don't Read
Trumpet as a whole	21	72	7	0	0
General appearance	24	65	10	0	0
News coverage	17	60	21	2	0
Quality of writing	13	68	16	3	0
Features	20	53	22	2	3
Editorials	24	50	20	3	3
Reviews	13	48	32	2	5
Sports coverage	28	51	10	3	8
Wartburg's Week	28	48	16	3	5
Whirled Affairs	17	37	21	6	19
Picking Up Splinters	13	44	19	2	22
Knight Beat	58	30	8	1	3
Pictures	24	55	15	5	1
Sword Points	26	42	19	3	10
Let's Meet Friends	16	38	25	11	10
Footnotes to Faith	24	30	21	0	23

Comments were varied and often contradictory. For example, one person demanded to know why so much of the paper was devoted to sports while another asked why so little attention was paid to athletics.

"We greatly appreciate the cooperation of the students in the poll," stated Harold Kurtz, editor in chief, "and we are making every effort to use it as a means of improving the Trumpet."

Students were close to unanimous in agreeing that the paper was doing an adequate job of being "student voice," as 258, or 96 per cent, voted "yes" on this question.

Welcome To Brotherhood

Tuesday some six hundred men of the Iowa District Brotherhood will be on the campus for the annual Brotherhood Institute. This meeting, a well-established tradition, has become a means for both the Brotherhood and the college to become better acquainted.

The men of the church have demonstrated their friendship to Wartburg in many ways. Knights Gym was furnished by this group, and the public address system is a gift from them as well as other material expressions of their generosity.

For these and many other favors, they deserve a big "Thank you" and an equally hearty "Welcome to Wartburg!"

Cornils Likes Speaking, Youth Work, — Also Lauds Campus Improvements

By Jan Lamine

"By hearing the word of God, the human soul is fed," was the subject with which the Rev. E. J. Cornils opened his first vesper service sermon of the Spiritual Emphasis Week just past.

Throughout the week, in a series of seven sermons, Pastor Cornils preached the Word to the Wartburg Student Body and faculty. He explained that he had attempted to develop the theme, "Extending the Kingdom." This is accomplished by first extending the kingdom in the heart of the individual, then by becoming instruments of God in implanting the kingdom in the hearts of others.

Pastor Cornils graduated from Wartburg in 1940.

"The college has grown tremendously since then," he remarked. "It's like a cocoon that has developed into a butterfly." Much of the expansion he credited to President C. H. Becker's spirit.

To illustrate how Wartburg has changed, Cornils suggested that we try to imagine the campus without Centennial Hall, The Union, The Fine Arts Center, Clinton Hall, Knights Gym, and the football field; squash blocks of houses around what is left, and you will have an idea of the improvement.

Convocations, chapel, discussions and Communion — these were the elements which made up Wartburg's annual Spiritual Emphasis Week. Here the Rev. E. J. Cornils, speaker for the week, addresses convocation in Knights Gymnasium. Looking on is the liturgist for the day, Ann Finern.

"One thing that hasn't changed at all is the mailbox congestion," he laughed.

Pastor Cornil's father was college treasurer and professor of German at Wartburg before his death in 1953. His mother is a Waverly resident.

Since Pastor "Jack" is Assistant to the Director of Stewardship and Finance for the ALC, he was qualified to point out that our view of stewardship is often too narrow. Stewardship includes, not only a sharing of money, but more important, of time and of talent as well.

Pastor Cornils is interested in youth work. He lectures at three or four leadership training schools each summer. Fishing in Wisconsin is the vacation for him. Summing up all his activities, he declared, "It's a great thrill to be doing the work I am doing."

How About Starting Own Library? Book Collection Is Easily Attained

By Ed Schaley

Have you taken stock of your personal library lately? Are you building your own collection of books you'd like to keep?

The average college student amasses an assortment of books by mere chance. This can be done effectively and for a very reasonable price.

Nearly one hundred active book clubs are to be found in the United States today. There are also numerous publishing houses and dealers offering monthly book sales at unusual bargains. This is big business.

Schaley

Over two billion paper-back volumes have been sold to American consumers since 1939. The interest in these pocket books has caused many publishers to slant their sales toward the lower price consumers.

Every book that goes into a student's personal library need not be bound to last a lifetime. Some books may be read once; others, as many as six times, depending on the reader's taste.

This principle of selecting should guide your choice in finding the right price range for the type of books you would buy. The life expectancy of paper-bound best sellers is diminutive when compared to a fine-printed Heritage Club volume. Its use, then, should be for current reading and enjoyment.

If a student's vocation should be English or high school teaching, a well-bound poetry anthology or short story collection would never need to be replaced under normal use. Though today's market is flooded with paperbacks, a purchaser must usually resign himself to browsing through "pulp" westerns and extreme science-fictions to find the type of books he is looking for.

Many book stores and newsstands sort their books in an effort to make them more salable to different types of readers. If you're looking for paperbacks, though, you'll usually find only the type of books that the average consumer is buying.

The Saturday Review of Literature runs a weekly column of "The Pick of the Paperbacks." Consulting magazine reviews and advisements such as the above-mentioned will prove helpful and time-saving to the concerned reader.

For looks and content, an average collection, such as The Modern Library Series, costs less than two dollars per book. A monthly book sale conducted by Marlboro Books offers price reductions on books of all subjects in their original, higher-priced editions.

For a low price of 50 cents per week, an amount which nearly every student wastes on incidentals, he could afford to belong to most book clubs, or purchase about thirty paperbacks in a year. If he decides to build a library series of similar bound and colored books such as Modern Library, Viking, or Harper's, he could select over a dozen titles in one year's time. This is an extreme minimum in costs.

How does your library look?

Is it an assorted mass of unsalable textbooks, racy paperbacks, and Mad Comics? Or are you seriously thinking ahead to the day when you may appreciate the values of having purchased the books you wanted when you needed them.

What sort of a teacher would you be if you read nothing but textbooks? The supplements of building your own, inexpensive library can not be measured by the meager price it would cost.

Those nickels you are throwing away each day could turn into useful and attractive books, if you become mindful of the future and the undeniable need of a personal, useful library.

Glaser Leaves

The Rev. Robert Glaser, Christianity Department, has announced that he will leave the Wartburg faculty to accept a call to St. John's Lutheran Church (Buck Creek), Sumner. He will return to the active ministry June 1 after being a member of the Wartburg faculty since 1950.

Cast Set For Two Musicals

"Trouble in Tahiti" by Leonard Bernstein and "Bastien and Bastienne" by Mozart is the musical double-header being presented by the Music Educators National Conference, Wartburg chapter, in cooperation with the Music and Dramatics Departments May 7, 9 and 10.

Mastin

Folkerts

Telling the story of a typical New York suburban couple, much of "Trouble in Tahiti" will be presented in pantomime, with the trio commenting on the action between the two main characters.

Sharon Folkerts, Ron Mastin and Dave Linkey, seniors, will be featured in the Mozart comic opera, which centers about the eternal triangle.

Both productions will be under the faculty supervision of Miss Mai Hogan and C. Robert Larson, Music Department; Vernon Lestrud and Robert Smith, Speech Department.

by Bob Leslo

I've heard of a few students saying the teachers are going to the dogs, but this is the first time I ever heard of dogs going to the teachers (referring, of course, to canines, not collegiate vernacular). At least that's what one of the history majors told me.

Seems that one of the stray mutts on campus wandered into the classroom before one of Mr. Bjorgan's classes started. It just goes to prove that college lectures are fit for man or beast. The pooch slept through the entire hour, however, so that leaves the question open to debate again.

One off-campus caf diner: "Had breakfast the other day."

Another off-campus caf diner: "No kidding? Maybe I should try to make it again this semester."

Be glad you aren't going to school in Tokyo. One student gave me a newspaper clipping that said the members of a Tokyo university were up in arms about the hot dogs they were served in their caf. Because that's what it was — man's best friend was actually served.

Grades are out and the Trumpet is happy to announce that its average staff grade point is 3.053. It would have been higher if not for the unfortunate fact that the Trumpet has an editor and two male columnists. "They study at The Trumpet or they leave" — and join the Fortress staff.

Remember, sports fans, if you enjoy football, don't be downhearted because the season is over. Just go over to the gym and watch an intramural basketball game.

We read that the city of Waverly has considered that empty basement with no house over it one block west of the Bremer bridge is a health hazard. How about the dry run?

Don't forget that today is Monster Movie Fan Club time again. This time it's "I Was a Teenage Werewolf" and "Invasion of the Saucer-Men."

I'll never forget what one faculty member said to my roommate of two years ago when he asked if he could turn his term paper in late: "I'll cry on your shoulder awhile and you'll cry on my shoulder a while, and you'll still get an 'F'."

It's not too late to get your Homecoming buttons. Last year's button, of course. Duane Matz has a limited supply available. And by next year he'll have the same limited supply left.

My vote for "Wartburg Friend-of-the-Week" goes to one of the employees at Roy's Place. If you're feeling down in the dumps, he can quickly cheer you up by asking, "What'll it be, Preacher?" and immediately going into a gay repartee of witty comments and slams. He's known simply as "Mueller" by longtime Roy's Place addicts.

Seven Vets Cast In O'Neill Production

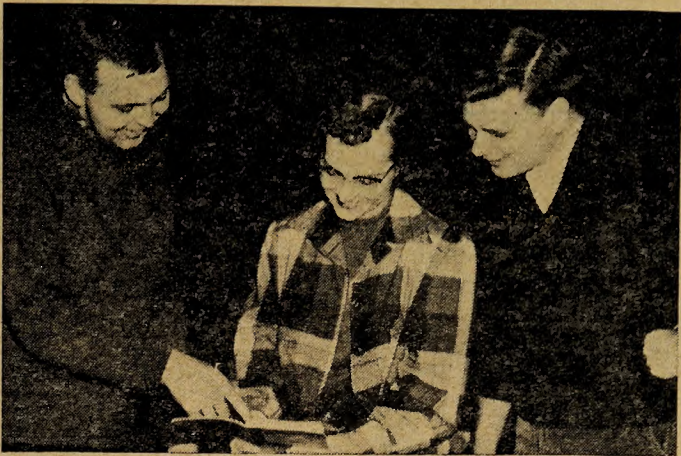

Seven veteran actors are listed in the play cast of the Wartburg Players' winter play, Eugene O'Neill's "Beyond the Horizon."

Bob Loslo, senior, playing the part of Andrew Mayo, has appeared in "Waiting for Godot." Bill Melvin, senior, portraying the character Robert Mayo, has appeared in "Murder in the Cathedral" as well as several one-acts. John Tehven, senior, playing the role of Captain Dick Scott, is a veteran of "Box and Cox." Kathryn Koob, sophomore, and Louis Becker, junior, both veterans of "Harvey," play the parts of Kate Mayo and Dr. Fawcett. Other veterans included in the cast are Marlene Haibeck, junior, and Bob Kroeger, senior.

Making their first appearance on the Wartburg stage will be Bill Jurgens, senior, and Lois Sonstelic, freshman.

The play features a triangle in which the girl, Ruth, played by Marlene Haibeck, marries the wrong man. When the other suitor, her brother-in-law, enters the scene again, he brings disillusionment to both Ruth and her husband, Robert.

According to Vernon Lestrud, Drama Department, the scenery in the play will require much shifting. In each of the three acts one scene is laid out of doors, and the second indoors, forcing several scene changes.

"Beyond the Horizon" by Eugene O'Neill is one of the author's first major Broadway productions, and it won a Pulitzer Prize in 1920.

Lestrud, director of the play, said, "O'Neill is, in my opinion, the greatest American dramatist. There is a great deal to be learned from his plays, not only for those participating in the production, but also for those watching it."

The dates for the play, March 6, 7 and 8, were chosen to coincide with International Theater Month.

Teachers Tested Locally; Students Try New Roles

Wartburg's education students assumed new roles this semester as they began teaching in the Waverly school system or in Shell Rock. The following students in elementary education are student teaching in Waverly.

At Irving are Beverly Thiem, Sandra Nielsen and Carolyn Joseph. Teaching at Carey are Catherine Beckman and Ruth Juilfs, while at Lincoln are Ann Finner and Arlene Hoernke. St. Paul's student teachers are Ellen Muir, Virginia Grimm and Elnora Bremer.

West Cedar teachers are Dora Ann Ingersoll, Genevieve Goe-mann and Mary Ellen Els. At Waverly Junior High are Tom Jensen, social studies; James Martin, English; and Wayne Venter, arithmetic. At St. Paul's are Iris Heaney, German; Nancy Mista, arithmetic.

Teaching at Shell Rock are Kenneth Freeman, general business; Duane Pries, geometry; Barry Kline, typing; Eugene Ottrogge, science; Roger Klingman, biology; David Linkey, vocal; and Larry Achorn, French.

Waverly High teachers include Robert Keister, typing and physical education; Leslie Huth, physical education; Darrell Weidman, instrumental music; Don Hamilton, instrumental music; Harvey Groskreutz, advanced mathematics; and Conrad Brack-lein, geometry.

Others are John Werner, English; Mary Buss, algebra; Dorlin Moeller, algebra; Evon Wick, biology; Sharon Folkerts, vocal music; Anne von Fischer, vocal music; Patricia Jacob, vocal music; Kathryn Fritschel, world history; Arnold Brandt, world history; Phyllis Koester, shorthand and girls' physical education; Ralph Wolken, typing; Darwin Schrage, secretarial training; and Esther Brinkman, girls' physical education.

Alpha Psi Omega Play Cancelled

Annual children's play, a project of Alpha Psi Omega, Wartburg drama fraternity, has been discontinued because of financial matters. According to Bob Loslo, president of APO, an offer of $35 was made by the local superintendent of schools to defray the costs of production rather than to have a 15-cent admission charged the children.

"Since APO stands to lose money with this arrangement," Loslo explained, "it would hardly be a worth-while venture."

Wartburg Couples Tell Engagements

Two student couple engagements were in evidence this week as two coeds were given diamonds.

Marlene Haibeck, junior from Steele, N. D., is engaged to Everett Vorthmann, senior, Council Bluffs. Receiving a ring from junior George Scherb, Keister, Minn., was Sandra Sekas, sophomore from Cedarburg, Wis. Future plans are indefinite.

Adviser Entertains

Members of Trumpet and Fortress editorial boards will be guests of Miss Margaret Wolff, publications adviser, tomorrow. Miss Wolff will entertain the boards at a 5:30 p.m. supper in her home at 1309 2nd Ave., SW.

NEW IN OFFICE

Donna Schilling, sophomore transfer student from Northern State Teachers College, Aberdeen, S.D., has been employed in the registrar's office here.

Fintel Will Speak

Public Relations Director Norman Fintel will speak to the Waverly Parent-Teachers Association Tuesday night. "Should Your Child Go to College?" is his subject.

Picking Up Splinters

By Wilbur Flachman

Upper Iowa Coach Eb Eischeid said Wednesday in a Des Moines Register interview that officiating could soon ruin the Iowa Conference.

Eischeid cited the fact that his Peacocks had a 30-point advantage when they played at home—15 points for their small gymnasium and 15 points for the referees.

Along with Eb's line of thinking, witness Iowa Wesleyan's collection of only three free throws in its 68-49 loss to UIU last week.

Two weeks ago the Knights headed south for a two-game set at Wesleyan and Parsons. They took the floor against Wesleyan, only to find there weren't any referees present! Any volunteers?

Sure! After the game was delayed only a short while, two refs were rather easily located. Producing valid licenses and vouched for by the opposing coach, the pair went to Wartburg mentor Ax Bundgaard to get his acceptance.

So what happened? Here is the result: Field goals: Wesleyan 31, Wartburg 30. Fouls: Wesleyan 12, Wartburg 28. Free throws: Wesleyan 25, Wartburg 10. Final score: Wesleyan 87, Wartburg 70. Final result: Knights shoved into the background of the Iowa Conference basketball race.

Here is the rest of the story: The pair of volunteer refs reportedly were: 1. a graduate of Wesleyan a few years back. 2. a Mt. Pleasant insurance salesman and avid supporter of the Tigers.

The Upper Iowa mentor suggests a commissioner to rule over the present loop. Agreed that a commissioner would do some good, but even a very competent man wouldn't add much class to the league as it stands now.

Some of the top athletic teams in the Midwest annually come from the Iowa Conference, but in facilities, sound athletic scruples and prestige, this league is lagging.

So comes the suggestion: "Why doesn't Wartburg withdraw from the Iowa Conference?" The answer is simple. There is no immediate opportunity to join another conference.

Here is a suggestion that is probably way out in mid-air as far as probability is concerned: (But it is something to think about.) Let's line up a league that would look like this:

School	Location	Enrollment
Luther	Decorah	1,150
Coe	Cedar Rapids	800
St. Ambrose	Davenport	1,100
Wartburg	Waverly	850
Cornell	Mt. Vernon	800
Morningside	Sioux City	1,000
Loras	Dubuque	1,100
Grinnell	Grinnell	850

It probably wouldn't be much trouble persuading the Norse to withdraw from this setup as it is. St. Ambrose and Loras are independents. Major trouble would be getting Coe, Cornell and Grinnell to drop out of the Midwest League. About the only argument the new loop would have would be the shorter traveling distances and the compactness of the all-Iowa league. Morningside could be another stumbling block. Distance to the western part of the state is a factor there.

Here is another advantage: A complete schedule could be carried out in all sports. Take wrestling, for instance. Only four schools — Wartburg, Luther, Dubuque and UIU—have the mat sport at present. All of the eight proposed colleges have wrestling in their programs.

This setup would be a long time in coming, but would be well worth the waiting, unless a tremendous amount of work and revision is done to alleviate the present situation and sore spots in the Iowa Conference as it now stands.

Still one more advantage.—Luther and Wartburg leaving the present loop would leave room for Westmar and Penn to join the old loop, something which both have been trying to do for some time.

POPS KNEE IN

Stephenson Holds Two Jobs

By Bill Melvin

When John Tuecke's troublesome knee pops out or someone else turns an ankle on the basketball floor, the first man on the scene to offer assistance is usually Tom Stephenson, Wartburg trainer.

Perhaps the least known man of the athletic department, Stephenson was added to the staff last year when it was decided that the appointment of a trainer would be a valuable addition.

Stephenson is a full-time physical therapist at the Rohlf Memorial Clinic besides holding his job with the college. He is a graduate of Wartburg and completed his last twelve months of training at the University of Iowa.

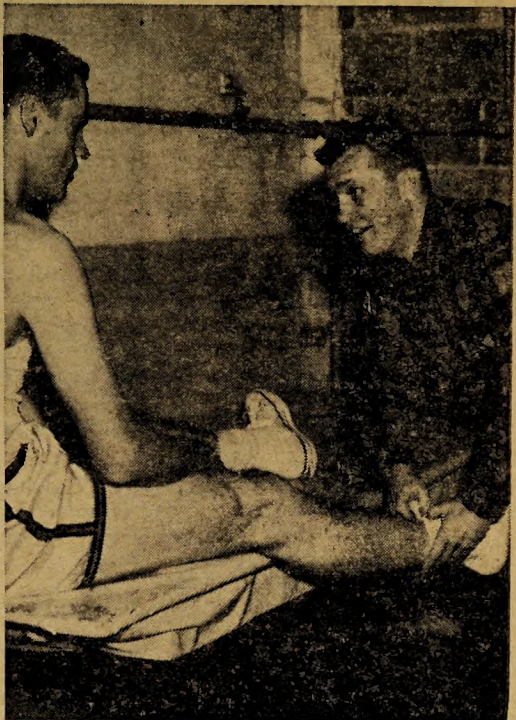

Supportive taping and the treating of blisters and sore muscles take up most of the trainer's time.

"I just try to take care of all the aches and pains," said Stephenson.

Active all the year round with football in the fall and with the spring sports as well as basketball, the likable trainer keeps busy, although, he added, there isn't as much doing in the spring as there is during the football and basketball seasons.

Stephenson works during the practice sessions and home events of the Knights, but he usually doesn't go with them on the road. He did accompany the team on one football trip, however.

So watch closely at Wartburg's future athletic events, and when there's an injury, see if Tom Stephenson isn't the first one to the rescue.

"NICE GAME" says Knight trainer Tom Stephenson as he removes tape from Wayne Slack, following last night's victory over Parsons.

Knights Get Back Into Win Column

Wartburg Comes From Behind To Beat Parsons

By Charles Maahs

The Wartburg Knights put up a strong defense in the second half, limiting Parsons to 16 points, and then pulled away in the last five minutes by scoring 14 straight points, to win 64-49, in a conference game last night. It was Wartburg's second victory over Parsons and its tenth win in seventeen games for the season.

Trailing 33-28 at the end of the first half, the Knights, ranked 18th in small college defense, held Parsons without a field goal for the first nine minutes of the second half. The taller Knights then surged to victory in the last five minutes, when Parsons lost their ace 6'10" center, Vern Hallings, on fouls.

Coach Ax Bundgaard, looking for a winning combination, injected three new starters into the line-up. Wartburg took an early lead, but fell behind when the hustling Parsons team scored 9 straight points to go ahead 21-16, midway through the first half. With forward Fred Jasper's rebounding and Jim Schwarz, guard, hitting his jump-shot, the Knights pulled to within five points at the half.

Parsons took 18 straight shots in the second half before making their first field goal. The Knights combined their stingy defense with some accurate jump-shooting to regain the lead. Shooting at only a 29% clip during the first half, Wartburg hit more consistently to perforate Parsons' zone defense.

John Adix, guard, tallied four baskets in snapping a personal shooting drought, to lead the Knight comeback. In the last five minutes, Wartburg scored at will to build a 15 point cushion. It was Wartburg's seventh conference win against four losses and strengthened their hold on fourth place.

Wartburg dominated the backboards, grabbing 61 rebounds to Parsons' 46. Jaspers and Wayne Slack, forwards, led the rebounding with ten each. Adix and Dave Jensen, guards, followed with nine. Wartburg had 22 offensive rebounds during the last half to spearhead their offense.

Norm Remmers proved an able replacement for the injured John Tuecke, by scoring 11 points. Wartburg received some bad news when it was discovered Tuecke will probably be lost for the season.

Hallings was the game's leading scorer with 17 points. Adix paced the Knights with 15 points and Schwarz added 13 in the balanced attack.

Intramural Court Race Tightens In Both Loops

Intramural basketball races tightened, as only two teams in each league continued undefeated. The National League saw Bolin's eagerness spoil Grossmann I-Basement's perfect record, 44-33, and both Vollmer and Grossmann III scored overtime victories, Vollmer over Cotta, 30-29, and Grossmann III nosing out Grossmann II, 34-31.

In the American League, North Hall was inactive. Cotta aided by Don Hamilton's 20 tallies, defeated Hof's team, 69-39 as Lloyd Brandt threw in 18 counters for the losers. Grossmann III hit the win column, with a 58-35 victory over Grossmann II. Elsewhere in the league it was Grossmann I-Basement over Trailer Courts, 48-39.

A glance at individual scoring, finds Don Hamilton leading both leagues with a 16.3 average. Following him in the American League are Charlie Maahs and Chuck Nichols. Gordon Peterson, Wendy Matthias and Darrol Bauer, lead National League scorers. A shuffling of four teams in the bowling standings highlighted Wednesday night action, but Carver's continued to pull away from the field. They now sport a 11-game lead. High series went to Mel Nass, 523, and Lyle Wilharm's 190 was good for high game.

Squires Bow To Cornell

Wartburg's Squires were defeated by the freshmen from Cornell last Saturday to give them a season record of 5-4. Dumped 64-50, Marvin Ott paced the freshmen with 11 points, followed by Ralph Meewes with 10 points. Other season statistics see Meewes leading with a 13.7 points per game average. He is followed by Ott with a 9-point average and Don Lehmann with an 8.11 average. In fourth place is Ed Bahlmann with a 7.6 average, followed by Leo Wilharm, who is shooting 7.2 per game.

Squires will preview the Luther game Tuesday night when they host the Norse junior varsity at 5:30.

Luther Here On Tuesday

Luther's Norse basketball team invades Knights Gym with a Viking thirst for victory Tuesday night.

Though the Norsemen are currently sporting a meager 1-7 conference record, they have lost several close games, including a 75-70 overtime contest to Upper Iowa University, currently riding in second place in the IIAC.

The Tuesday night clash will be witnessed by visiting members of the Iowa District Brotherhood Institute. In 10 previous games which the group has seen between the two squads, the Knights have come home on top every time.

This has been a building season for head coach Ham Peterson's ball club. Losing two small but fast guards last year, Roger Schroeder and Chuck Barkee, Peterson has had to rely on inexperienced players this season.

Paced by Clay Lyons, sophomore forward, and Milt Kramer, senior forward, the Norse have been beaten by the Axmen twice this season. The first loss came in the Holiday Tall Corn Tournament, and the second in the first conference encounter of the season between the two squads.

This will be a must game for the Knights if they hope to receive a post-season tournament bid this year. Plagued by bad shooting in the past few weeks, Knights have been having trouble with conference opponents.

"LET ME UP," says John Adix as the Knights' leading scorer hits the boards during yesterday's conference win over Parsons.

Jomen Lose Two

Sophomore Bruce Brye scored two falls in wrestling action this week, as Wartburg grapplers were handed two defeats.

Saturday Dubuque downed the Knights 18-12, and Wednesday night, wrestlers from Augustana College, Rock Island, five points Wednesday when Augustana forfeited in the 123-weight division. Junior Dick Chellevoid scored a tie in other Knight scoring.

Iowa District Brotherhood will get an opportunity to watch Wartburg's wrestling squad in action Tuesday. Coach Norm Johansen's matmen will put on an intra-squad grunt and groan exhibition from 4:40 to 5:10 p.m. in Knights Gym.

Ill., handed the Jomen a 21-12 loss.

Wrestling in the 123-weight division, Norm Fredericks, sophomore, decisioned Harrison at Dubuque while ties were scored by Eugene Oltrogge, senior, and John Schiek, freshman, for the Knights.

Artists View New Chapel

NEXT STEP after the library in Wartburg's expansion program is a chapel-auditorium. Here's the artist sketch of the proposed building.

Ten-Day Tour For Knight Band in March; Hagen's Musicians Will Visit Four States

Wartburg's Concert Band, under the direction of Ernest G. Hagen, will tour for 10 days, beginning March 21, traveling to Wisconsin, Minnesota, South Dakota and Iowa.

Cities listed as stops for the band are Augusta, Wis.; St. Paul and Lambert, Minn.; Aberdeen, S.D.; and Titonka, Pocahontas, Traynor, Fontanelle and Mason City, all in Iowa. The band's home concert is dated as Sunday, April 13 at 8 p.m. in the Knights Gymnasium.

"The concerts will be varied and designed to entertain the man in the street as well as the musician," stated Hagen.

He added that the band is also prepared to present an all-sacred concert for Lent if the congregation so desires.

Appearing in formal dress for the first half of the regular concert and in uniforms for the second, the band will feature Edwin Skay, freshman from Mound, Minn., in a number for trumpet and band; a trombone quartet; the percussion section in a calypso number; a woodwind quartet; the clarinet section and the bass section.

Reents Returning Debaters Travel

Jack Reents, who attended Wartburg two years ago, plans to continue his studies here next year after returning from the volunteer mission-building project of the American Lutheran Church in New Guinea.

According to a letter received recently by the college, Reents will complete his work there this summer.

Debaters Travel

Central College, Pella, is the destination of four Wartburg debaters today. Jim Eissinger, sophomore, and Iris Heaney, senior, with Grace Jahn, freshman, and John Werner, senior, will participate in the one-day debate tournament.

Recital Features Varied Selections

Wartburg's first mixed recital for the second semester will be presented Wednesday, Feb. 12, in the Fine Arts Center at 3 p.m.

Included on the program will be Fred Langrock, tenor, who will sing "I'll Sail Upon the Dog Star" by Purcell. "Etude in D Flat" by Liszt will be presented by Meredith Stuhmer, pianist.

Marian Stubenvoll, pianist, will play three selections from "Scenes of Childhood" by Schumann. Granados' "Rondalla Aragonesa" will be presented by Duane Anunson, pianist. Also on the program is "Moment Musical in A-Flat Major" by Schubert, played by Sharon Jacobsen, pianist.

Senior pianist Pat Jacob will present Bach's "Prelude and Fugue in E Minor."

Schmidt Attends Music Conference

Warren Schmidt, Music Department, attended a conference on church music last weekend at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.

Sessions dealt with service playing, choral repertoire and organ construction and design and were held in the Lutkin Chapel of the university. An anniversary celebration was held in honor of Lutkin, former dean of church music at the school.

Speakers at the conference were Earl Harper, dean of fine arts at the University of Iowa, and Theodore Schaefer, organist at the National Presbyterian Church in Washington, D. C., the church attended by President Dwight Eisenhower. Schaefer also presented an organ recital.

APG Pledges Two

Two new members were pledged into the ranks of Alpha Phi Gamma, national co-educational journalism fraternity, this week. Pledged into membership of the local Beta Delta chapter were senior Kay Fritschel and junior Joan Pape.

LET'S MEET FRIENDS

Society Columnist Finds Meetings Go On And On

By Kathi

Hi!
"Round and round it goes, and where it stops, nobody knows." About now that is how I feel about meetings here on campus. On and on they go. But I guess that is the life of a college student (and the fate of a society columnist).

Frenz

A busy man on campus is "Uncle Herb" (Engelbrecht) but apparently not too busy to address Chi Rho. The group will meet at 1:30 this Sunday to hear his impressions of the recent meeting of the National Lutheran Council. As usual, the pre-theological society will meet in the Choral Room of the Fine Arts Center.

In a correlated contrast, Phebes are also holding their monthly meeting this Sunday but in the Faculty Lounge. The program is of vital interest to all future parish workers. The Rev. Karl Schmidt and Dorothy Voights, parish worker from St. Paul's, will discuss issues which concern that field. Letters received from those who have already gone out will be the basis for the discussion. They also meet at 1:30.

A question for the teacher What do you tell the irate mama who wants to know why little Johnny is the class curve-lowerer? If you don't know, then I suggest you find out. . . . by attending the Student Education Association meeting this Monday at 7 p.m. in the Choir Room of the Fine Arts Center. A group of teachers will present a panel on this topic, entitled "Parent-Teacher Conferences."

To the click of shutters and the flash of flashbulbs, the Camera Club will meet this Thursday. And the subject has an interesting sound. It's models. (By the way, the models are still being sought by the program chairman. So any of you interested in being a model can possibly do so by contacting Emil Blobaum.) I'm sure no one will forget the time and place, 7:30 in Room 203, Luther Hall, but I might remind you to bring your cameras, film and lighting equipment.

The "reserved" sign which will be on the private dining room door next Wednesday is there for a purpose. Tri-Beta is holding its yearly banquet and initiation. Six initiates and a speaker, Dr. Jerry Kolrows of the State University of Iowa Department of Zoology and the chairman no less, constitute the program.

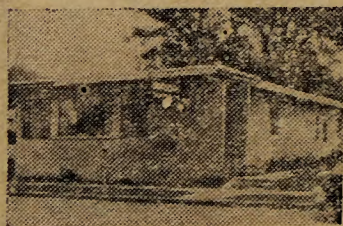

I wonder if one could get two suppers that night. The banquet doesn't start until 6:30 which gives one plenty time to partake in the caf.

And just a look ahead. Sunday, Feb. 16, has been designated as "Universal Day of Prayer for Students." Here on campus, Lutheran Student Association is sponsoring the day. Services will be held in Danforth Chapel. More about this next week.

From the looks at attendance, I guess that I need to remind you of Bible Discussion Groups which are held every Sunday morning at 9 in St. Paul's Parish Hall. These are usually Student-conducted and are for the purpose of student participation. Let's all attend this week.
